

MAUI WINS FROM OAHU POLOISTS IN FIRST MATCH OF YEAR ON MONDAY

All-around Teamwork of Visiting Mallet Wielders Gives Them Decision Over Local Men—Harold Castle Plays Great Polo Throughout Match—Edward Baldwin Startles Spectators With Great Exhibition—Francis Brown and Dillingham Play

Four Maui poloists, well mounted playing team work lived up to the expectations of the polo devotees. Monday afternoon at Kapiolani Field when they defeated the Oahu team by a score of 10 to 2. Maui excelled in attack work, horseanship and team work throughout the match, and after the first chukkur the result of the match was never in doubt.

The Maui poloists entered the match favorites, and the crowd did not have long to wait, as Arthur Collins shot the ball from the ruck through the lattice for the first goal in 17 seconds. Oahu made a hard bid for honors in this chukkur, and some especially good passing brought the wooden sphere to the goal posts, but Edward Baldwin made a beautiful save, and from that time on Oahu was on the defense.

Maui rushed the ball up to the goal to open the second chukkur, but Walter Macfarlane saved a goal with a pretty back bander. Maui failed to score in the second chukkur as Oahu was playing a good defensive game at this time.

Poor stick work on the part of Oahu lost two chances to score in the third, and 33 seconds after the throw in Arthur Collins received the ball on a pretty pass, and shot a goal. The Oahu team failed to work together in this period, and in a rush for the goal Edward Baldwin carried it down for another goal.

Maui rushed through the game in the next period of play, and in 22 seconds after Louis Beard had started the period, Frank Baldwin shot a pretty goal through the lattice posts. Harold Rice, mounted on Trade Wind, showed some pretty play here, and in a series of dribbles and drives shot another goal. Arthur Collins closed the scoring in the period with a pretty goal from a difficult angle. Missed Dillingham.

The fine Italian hand of Walter Dillingham was missing in this period, and although the Oahuans made every effort to stem the tide, the delicate inside play was missed. Harold Castle played great polo, but lost a number of goals. If there were any breaks in the game they surely went against the Oahuans. Arthur Rice was out of the game, and this was another handicap to the team.

Harold Dillingham made his debut in the first half of the match, and handled his mounts well, and should continue to improve with more team-work practice. Bob Shingle showed up well in playing the ball down the boards.

In the second half of the match the Oahu lineup shifted. Francis Brown went into the game at No. 3, Walter Macfarlane was at No. 1, Harold Castle at No. 2 and Bob Shingle played back. The new arrangement appeared to improve conditions, as Oahu showed some good passing here, and the ball shot up the field and Walter Macfarlane made a drive into the month of the goal, but once again Maui played great defensive polo, and dribbled the ball to the boards. Again in this period Francis Brown on Jack saw made a shot for a goal, but missed by a narrow margin. The ball was in the Maui territory for the most part in this chukkur.

Edward Baldwin, the 12-year-old poloist, made three beautiful drives up the field in the sixth chukkur, and shot a goal from a hard angle. Frank Baldwin shot another goal a few minutes later when the Oahu defense was shattered. Harold Castle missed a great goal by a narrow margin, and a goal by a narrow margin. The ball came back after the bell had sounded, and this time Castle shot true, and the ball passed between the lattice posts for the first goal for Oahu.

Youngster Stars Edward Baldwin took the ball out of the ruck in the seventh period, and by some great riding carried the ball down the field for a pretty goal. A few seconds later he missed another goal, the ball striking the edge of the post. Oahu carried the ball up to the mouth of the goal once more, and Castle missed another chance for a goal. Walter Macfarlane missed, but Francis Brown came up and scored. Harold Castle later added another goal from a hard angle. Harold Rice crossed in this period, and the score stood 8 to 2.

Pretty work by Arthur Collins in the eighth period gave Harold Rice an opportunity to score and Collins again brought the ball up when Frank Baldwin shot for the last goal of the day.

Harold Castle played great polo throughout the game, and in reality his work was as good as has been seen here for many moons. With the teamwork shot to pieces he raced up and down the field, dribbling, breaking and riding his man, and the number of goals he robbed him of a number of goals. Edward Baldwin, the youngster from Maui, made a great impression and was in the thick of the fight at all times. A tendency not to lean over enough on some of his strokes lost him opportunities for runs. He missed a beautiful one on one occasion and he let it be known in excellent manner. Arthur Collins played great polo for Maui, as did Frank Baldwin and Harold Rice. In fact, Maui played like a real machine, and in this department of the match greatly excelled the local mallet wielders. With Arthur Rice and Walter Dillingham out of the game the Oahuans lost much of their team work, which has been a big factor in their success. Francis Brown has shown a wonderful improvement in his game. He rides well, gets into the game at all times, and showed plenty of ability in wielding the stick. His inexperience caused him to be put out of position at times, but he should advance rapidly under the tutelage of the Oahu experts.

EWA WINS FROM WAIPAHU SQUAD

With the score tied at the beginning of the sixth inning on Sunday, Ewa scored two runs, which was enough to win from Waipahu, and the game resulted in favor of the Ewa aggregation by a score of 5 to 3.

Gordon Ross pitched for Ewa, and allowed but two hits, and should have had a shutout, but errors by his teammates allowed runs in the third and fifth inning. Cordero of Waipahu also pitched good ball, holding the Ewas to four hits. The score:

Once more Satisfax, the fastest thing in horseflesh that has ever appeared on a local track, set a new record in the half mile event. Capt. R. D. Hoy's little black steed, with Johnny Carroll up, won the event in 47 1/3 seconds, which lowers the record by 3/4 second. The best time for this event was made by Geraldine in 46 flat on a straight course at Morris Park.

More than 5000 followers of racing gathered at the track yesterday to watch the feature events of the day. The bracelet stakes caused much attention, and the race was unusually good for the first quarter mile, when Miss Heather, Damon, riding Arthur Rice's Problem, won out; with Miss Pauline Schaefer on Walter Macfarlane's Klavus, second, and Miss Rosewood Swamy on Arthur Rice's Kook.

Wreckers Down Ruger In Ninth Inning of Spectacular Battle

Hawkins' Home Run Gives 25th Infantry Game Over Giants at Schofield—Errors By Johnson Rob Rugerites of Game—Home Team Uses Three Pitchers Against Stewart's Aggregation—More Than 1500 Fans Watch Oahu League Game

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, June 11.—Fifteen hundred spectators saw the 25th and Fort Ruger nines play a thrilling game at the post athletic park this afternoon. The Wreckers, winning in the ninth inning, Hawkins, the first man up, stepping to the plate with the score a 7 to 7 tie, and leaning against one of Kelly's speedy ones for a mighty home run drive out of the park via center field, easily making the circuit before Stewart reached the ball. Pandemonium reigned at this instant in the west bleachers, where the followers of the 25th Infantry gather, and hats galore were tossed in the air and sundry noises emitted, the hero of the occasion being carried off the field on the shoulders of ardent admirers during the midst of the rejoicing.

In fact there was occasion for the celebration, even though it was the humble tallender who had been defeated, for the Wreckers tackled a mighty stiff proposition when they tackled the Rugerites this afternoon, being given one of the fiercest battles in their games of the Oahu-Servic League. The Wreckers had a four-run lead in the fourth inning and most of the spectators figured that they had a clinch, but the Rugerites came to life in the fifth and before that inning was over had jammed four runners over the rubber. The 25th Infantry came back with one in the fifth half. The Cosmoletes started another explosion in the sixth when three more matters were gleamed. This set the south bleachers to roaring, especially at the discomfiture of the players on the Wreckers' nine, who seemed up in the air, the first time for a long while, and the Rugerites probably are willing to admit that the hand they received at the end of that frame sounded mighty fine.

Wanted Them To Lose It sure would have tickled a bunch of fans to have seen the mighty Wreckers humbled. However, such visions were shattered after the 25th Infantry completed their turn at the bat in the sixth and remaining innings, as it was apparent that Kelly's support was cracking under the strain and it would only be a question of time until the Wreckers showed over a winning tally. The latter frames saw the 25th Infantry forcing a contest which culminated with Artillery errors and some bad ball playing soon dissipated their comfortable lead and lost the game. Johnson was the chief offender, being chalked up with six errors and was the cause of the Rugerites' defeat. Fagin seemed to be Johnson's nemesis, the latter perpetrating four errors on plays in which the former figured.

Three pitchers figured in the game for the Wreckers, Morgan starting the matinee, but retiring at the end of the first inning on account of a sore arm. Jackson was Captain Goliath's next selection. Jackson did not retire on account of a sore arm, the Ruger aggregation simply slammed his offerings to the three gardens, their seven runs being amassed off this twirler. Waterhouse was sent to the mound in the seventh and held the enemy runless, one lonely bingle being all they could make off his delivery. Hawkins, Smith, Goliath and Johnson each gathered two or more hits, Hawkins and Johnson slammed out homers, the latter also getting in for a double. Austlon also received credit for a double. Hawkins, Johnson and Smith bore the bulk of the defensive work for the Wreckers. Kelly, in his first appearance here, made a good impression and it was the belief of the fans that were he given a team to support him he would prove one of the leading hurlers of the islands. Benham, Womack and Stewart featured in the fielding of the Rugerites.

The 25th Infantry was the first to score, making one run in the first frame, when Hawkins singled to left center, scoring when Johnson cracked out his double. Johnson scored the second run of the game when he clouted a screaming homer through center field.

BUCKLAND'S TEAM DEFEATS CO. KIN SCHOFIELD GAME

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, June 9.—The post athletic park contained a fair sized crowd when H and K Companies of the 32nd Infantry staged the final of a series of three games for supremacy, each company heretofore having one game to their credit, with K Company emerging the winner by an 8 to 4 count. The series furnished considerable excitement for the regimental fans and a classy brand of baseball was played throughout. A brief summary of the game indicates that K Company simply outscored and outthrew the other aggregation two to one.

Shelton twirled his usual good game for K Company, allowing but seven hits. Buckland, the peppery little catcher of the Infants, making three of these. In addition Shelton whiffed eight, walked one and bounced a swift one off Harris' funny spot. Farmer commenced the game for H Company and held the enemy runless for five innings, but four hits being made off his slants in that period. However, the balloon ascension took place in the sixth frame when four K runners scampered over the rubber. Sorol was safe when Hayes dropped the pill; Connolly's bobble of Stiney's tap advanced him to second; but De Vergies forced him at third. Farmer to Winewski.

Shelton responded in the pinch with a clean wallop to right, scoring Stiney. Hooper skied to Buckland and then Murphy met one squarely for a screaming drive to deep left out of the lot for four cushions. De Vergies and Shelton also scored. One more run was scored by K Company in the seventh when McCandless singled to short field, Balfour hit in the same general direction, advancing McCandless to second, from whence he scored when Stiney clouted a long single to the left pasture. Another killing was made by the winners in the eighth when Hopper singled to center, Murphy fanned, Gavin dropped one back of second, both runners scoring when McCandless soused one to the long grass out of the park outside center garden. There was nothing doing for K Company in the ninth. De Vergies, Hopper, Murphy, McCandless, Balfour and Shelton played All baseball for this company both in the hitting and fielding lines.

H Company drew first blood when one run was scored in the third stanza. Connolly was safe on Gavin's bobble, advanced to third on Gavin's ball and scored when Fitzpatrick slammed a safety to left. Another marker was added in the sixth when Fitzpatrick was safe on Balfour's fumble, advanced to third on Harris' single and scoring later when Fagin dropped Buckland's skyrocket to right field. In the eighth H Company collected two more. Fitzpatrick was safe on Gavin's wild heave to the bleachers, the runner making second; Harris popped to Hopper, and Hayes then cracked a screamer.

Hawkins' mighty slam in the ninth was the winning tally.
